It is almost certain that GRANT will be the republican candidate in the next presidential election year, but it cannot be said not be the strong card that it was expected he would make.

The representation of South Ontario in the Dominion Parliament is settled at last. The petition against the return of D. W. GIBBON has been finally set aside by judgment of the supreme court in favor of the sitting member, Mr. GIBBON. Mr. GIBBON has pushed the petition industriously and all the satisfaction he will reap for his labor will be that of paying the costs arising from the whole affair.

The Toronto are again anxious for another metropolitan treaty with Canada. Delegates from the Boston Board of trade are delegating in Washington for the appointment of a commission to prepare a basis of reciprocity with Canada. The National Policy has not driven our neighbors entirely from this country as they have been broadening Canada in the market that it injures our commercial cousins. The National Policy has not materially arrest the progress for some years, and that political question statement it to be, but there seems to be little doubt that it is slowly but surely purifying and renovating the national system.

PROFESSOR HAYES, of the United States, is an advocate of that dog-in-the-manger policy dubbed the "Mormon doctrine." He is said to be strongly in favor of an official re-affirmation of the said "doctrine" with respect to the Panama or intercoceanic ship canal. It is likely that this talk is mere bombast, but it is not likely that it will deter the to-Canada Lessees from prosecuting the work of inevitably uniting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. An extension of the Panama doctrine might squelch Canada. It is a little singular that President HAYES gives orders to send our ex-Secretary GRANT and the queen's daughter home, as living infringements of the sense of agreat-anglician, the Mormon doctrine.

A bill now before the Ontario Legislature is to amend the act to prevent the spread of Canada thistles. It provides that overseers of highways shall have the power to enter upon or cut thistles on any land sown with grain, except on land sown with fall wheat, and they Canadian thistles are growing on non-resident lands, it shall not be necessary to give notice before proceeding to cut down the same. The bill also makes it imperative on all municipal corporations to authorize the sampling out the provisions of the act. This seems to be rather a round way of going to work, but some of the township or indolent farmers can expect a crop amongst their grain from the overseers of highways. The amendment of the act may work a great reformation, but there will still be found lazy agriculturists enough to keep afloat the seeds of this lonely and nine-lived pest.

The condition of the Irish and Kingdom country may be bad enough, but it appears that in Germany they are even worse off. The Berlin agricultural laborers in Germany get in wages an average of 18¾ cents to 18 cents per day. Their food consists of whey cheese and potatoes, and the levels that shelter them are the most wretched apologies. There is great suffering amongst the agricultural classes generally, and the condition of the people here in terms is not much better. There seems to be no remedy for the suffering but the over-populated countries of the old world, but emigration to such our own Ontario and the great Northwest presents a hope for them all. They may struggle and and starve "at home," or on the "Fatherland," before the land laws are so amended as to give the peasantry and small farmers a tithe of the comfort and prosperity they would secure in half a dozen years by settling in Ontario or the Northwest.

CREAMERIES.

Though Bay of Quinte barley is still treated where beer is brewed, it is still apparent that as a whole the county is better adapted for dairying than for grain growing. A great deal of capital is invested in cheese manufacture and a great many farmers contribute largely to keep them in operation. It is claimed by some good authorities that creameries pay better than cheese. Be that as it may, the matter is worth discussion, and the following paragraph from the Globe on the subject will be read with interest:

It is not available if our farmers are to have the permanent system of making butter cheese be so slow in coming into use in Canada. We have adopted it in the old and when we do we shall find the best cheese already occupied. The letter on the subject of creameries in another column is practical. It points out the profitableness of the system and its many points, namely, the cost of hauling and the loss of skimmed milk. As, notwithstanding these objections, the total amount of butter made than the old-fashioned dairy, the question, in the case of hauling, does not stand out. As to the other, the loss of skimmed milk, it is more serious on those cases that make cheese than on the places remote from the farm, and consequently inconvenient of farm and cheese. The objection, however, is not a very serious one, and if the system of creameries were more generally introduced by farmers. Instead of collecting the cream, the milk of the whole neighborhood is brought to one central establishment, where the cream is taken off and the skim milk left to be returned by the owners of the milk. The butter is made by the proprietor of the establishment, who pays the farmers for the cream according to the quantity of milk supplied. Probably the best plan would be for the farmers to form themselves into a joint-stock company, and thus secure the profits of the manufacture. The system is not new to Canada, as it has been in operation for some years in the Province of Quebec, and is now being introduced into Ontario. The butter made in creameries is generally of a superior quality, and commands a higher price than that made in the old way. The system is also said to be more profitable to the farmer, as the cream can be sent to the factory at less cost than the whole milk, and the skim milk is returned to the farm. The creamery system is now receiving considerable attention in the United States, and is likely to become very popular there. It is also being introduced into Ontario. The Boomer.

To the Editor of The Boomer.

DEAR SIR,—With your permission I continue a consideration of the importance of the question of a National Currency for Canada.

Diverse opinions prevail as to the essential meaning of the word money? Is it of itself intrinsic value? Is it merely a representative of value, a device to facilitate the exchange of commodities which are more or less intrinsically valuable? We hold to the latter definition. Money is a creation by government, and hence its value is artificial rather than intrinsic. To prove this, it is only necessary to glance at its history. It will there find that various kinds have, at different times and in different countries been used as money, and that not in themselves necessarily valuable, but on the contrary often of little or commercially. Iron, copper, silver, gold, wood, leather, paper, etc., etc., have all, under government fiat, served as money. In the days of Solomon, in Sparta under Lycurgus. In ancient Carthage leather served as currency. In China, five centuries ago, leather and paper were used as currency. In England, under the Romans, the value of government was not guaged in value according to size and weight, but according to the "token" or engraving upon it. It was stamped with different nominals and denominations, and the coin called for a sow, horses, sheep, or whatever it might represent. In the twelfth century a wooden currency called an Exchequer Tally was established in England, and remained in use till towards the close of the seventeenth century, when the Bank of England was established, and then came the Exchequer bills and notes. Of course these different forms of currency were valueless or Rose-Coloured. The German States, however, had a Home Currency and a Foreign Currency, the latter being coined from gold and silver. Now, we have only a foreign currency in Canada, and we want also a home currency for our own national tax and development. Xenophon tells us "Most of the ancient Persians have money but they do not esteem except in their own territory." Modern nations have adopted this system of a national or home currency, and been enabled thereby to save themselves from financial ruin. Take France, for instance. After the Franco-German war. It issued paper money to the extent of twenty-five millions of pounds sterling, and by that remarkable and stimulating industrial activities in every direction, was soon enabled to pay a hundred million dollars to Germany as a war indemnity. This is indeed a stupendous fact in favor of a National Currency. Nor did the fiat money drive the gold and silver out of circulation, but would reduce industries and augmenting her exports, it actually retained the gold in the country, and drew more to the same time the balance of trade and recuperate her prostrate energies. The United States, in the late civil war, is another example. Their immense issues of paper money saved them financially. Of course their currency depreciated. But why? Because, as a consequence of every internal war, the endurance of the nation forged. There is no fear of depreciation if productive labor keeps pace with the volume of currency. One may get bottoms ahead of the other, that causing temporary depreciation, but ultimately but under the system which is proposed for Canada (not to issue a dollar, except for work done or equivalent received), there is absolutely no fear of this bugaboo, "depreciation." Canada has no alternative before her, from present appearances, but financial bankruptcy, or the issuance of a National Currency with which to pay for all public works and improvements and all Government expenditure. Taxation must cease her loans abroad or become bankrupt. Our total public debt, including municipal indebtedness, is said to be nearly two hundred and fifty millions, with fifteen millions of yearly interest. This drain upon the nation's vitals must prove fatal if continued. The whole country is mortgaged to English capitalists. Those of us who imagine our farms are free of mortgages are mistaken. We are all under mortgage to English Shylocks for English gold. Let the Government of this country shake off its stupidity or perversity, whichever it is, and cease pumping the country deeper in financial ruin. Let them cease borrowing money abroad. Let them issue a National Currency—an absolute necessity for the prosperity of the country—the sinews of the country—with which to pay for all public works and improvements. The Irish chib, which was under the control of Lloyd—Colonel Denbee, R.M. Inspector of Fisheries, Ottawa, is to be established, and three officers and thirty men will be employed. The Government will also erect a hatchery at Newcastle, and will stock the lakes and streams of the Dominion with salmon, salmon trout, whitefish, bass, pickerel, maskinonge and other valuable species of fish. The Government will also erect a hatchery at Newcastle, and will stock the lakes and streams of the Dominion with salmon, salmon trout, whitefish, bass, pickerel, maskinonge and other valuable species of fish.

Tragedy Gun.

AN IRON SELF-FOUNDER AND ITS HISTORY.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—A trophy has been placed in the military museum in the new drill hall in this city that is attracting considerable notice by the direction of Superintendent Lee. Why the interest occurs. Its history is given in the following extract which placed on the gun:—"An iron self-founder, manufactured by Messrs. Hall of the United States arsenals by the Government of the United States, and captured by the Confederates at Harper's Ferry, on the 18th of November of that year there, and in the possession of the Confederates through the campaign fortified himself, and held out until the 16th, when he escaped and after marching through the Confederate lines, which was under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Dodge, 2nd Regiment, Michigan Volunteers, and Lieutenant Hall, and other officers and men, and finally reached Washington, on the 19th of December, and was presented to the Government by Lieutenant Hall."

The Lambville mirrors were burned in Chicago last week. One of them, 24 by 30 inches, was valued at $1,000. Two of the mirrors, which is extensively employed in the manufacture of mirrors, and the greater part of his stock was destroyed. The loss is heavy, and means of the business under him, was saved by great exertion at Kingston, and the property is insured in Fort Henry at that place.

Horse-Stealing Fight.

TWO GOES "BET TO" OVER A LOVER.

CHANDLER, Feb. 11.—Lewis Wise and Margaret Downing, young, wealthy people of this place, and rivals for the affections of a young lady, had a horse-fight desperately on Saturday. Wise was severely gashed on the face with a knife, and has a bullet in his shoulder. The lady decided in favor of Wise, and the wedding took place on Sunday.

The Gagnon of a Gamecock.

THE RECORD OF A SAPARES PET WHO WENT WEST.

We clip the following from the St. Louis Times, of Jan. 25th. The subject of the fight and probably many of the characters mentioned are known from Missouri to about three miles:

"Correspondent, Mo., January 30.—About three years ago a young man by the name of Albert Edgar came to this neighborhood from Kentucky. He was accompanied a gamecock in the drug store of E. H. Fowler, of Cambella, relating his position until about November, 1879. Some dissatisfaction existing by, Mr. Farrar determined to give him further encouragement by the purchase of a valuable bird.

Young Edgar soon induced James Nettleton, of Boone county, to enter into partnership with him and commenced the drug business at Armstrong, in Howard county, Missouri. Edgar's bird was the pet of the town. On the 1st of January, two visited St. Louis Dec. 1st, 1879, and returned on the 3rd of January, each for them. In the payment of the amount agreed for the first time when Edgar could not come up with his portion of cash, Northcutt paying most of the expenses. The firm of E. & N., soon opened up with a heavy stock of goods on hand. Edgar remaining in his store shortly after they received Armstrong that he desired to go to Kansas City, which was news to Mr. Northcutt, for he did not dream that Edgar was a married man, and the sole support of a wife and two children, he having secretly married Miss Mary Hardin Bonnell, a young lady of this county. Mr. Bush knew nothing about the drug business, and having confidence in Edgar he entrusted the entire management of the store to him. About the 14th of the month Bush received a telegram from Edgar that he had sold the stock of goods to Dr. Hume, and for him. Bush to come up to Armstrong. When he arrived they were invoicing, the stock which amounted to something over $1,200. Edgar reported as to the liabilities of the firm of Edgar & Bush and was informed by Edgar that the firm owed about $850, and that there was some $550 due to Bush, besides the amount of money he had loaned. Bush owed a small amount of money and returned home, leaving Edgar at Armstrong to collect and settle the business. A few days Bush received a letter from Edgar dated from Cairo, Illinois, on Saturday the 17th inst. Bush some but received another card to be here on Monday the 19th inst. Bush came Centralia, on Saturday and settle up, divide the cash, one Bush was on hand but Edgar was not. Bush waited a few days and went to Armstrong to ascertain something concerning the whereabouts of the absconding partner. He learned that Edgar had been collecting bills and had left for parts unknown. Bush then left and gave a receipt in full. He also learned that Edgar's wife had left Boone county at the same time that Edgar had, and that E. had addressed a letter to his wife, care of Hugo-house, Mexico, Mo. This caused some excitement; as the citizens of Armstrong supposed his wife was in Centralia, with relatives. Bush at once went to Mexico, where he found that Edgar had shipped his goods to Canada, and he and his wife boggit tickets for Chicago.

Mr. Bush is one of our best citizens residing about seven miles north of Centralia, in Audrain Co. He does not know at this time how much money Edgar got, but he knows this, that he has been grossly deceived, and feels that he would not again entrust his money and credits to a man whom he did not know fully.

Report says that there are over forty indictments against Albert Edgar, in the Howard Circuit Court for illegally selling liquor. This no doubt hastened his departure."

The Terrible Tragedy in London.

DEVIL OF THE DOMINION DOMICILATED HUSBAND BY SHAKING HER.—THE MOST REVOLTING CRIME IN CANADIAN HISTORY.—ARREST OF SEVEN OF THE VICINITY.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—About two o'clock this morning, a band of armed men went to the house of Wm. Donnelly, at Whaley's Corners, and rapped at the door. Mrs. Donnelly went to the door and was shot dead. The band then went to the house of old man Donnelly and rapped at the door, stating that an officer wanted admittance. On opening the window, they went through the formalities of arresting the inmates, Mr. Donnelly, Mrs. Donnelly, Thos. Donnelly, and a niece of the Donnellys, after which they began to murder them with clubs, axes, etc. After they had killed them all they set fire to the house.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The excitement here and throughout the whole neighborhood is unabated, except that an ominous silence seems to have taken possession of everybody. Any mention of the crime is carefully avoided. The conclusion, however, is that the people were AFRAID TO SPEAK WITH FREEDOM.

Twenty-four hours having elapsed since the news of the brutal tragedy was first brought to the village, the people are now unable to comprehend more entirely the unparalleled enormity of such wholesale slaughter and the utter lack of any justifiable cause for the brutal premeditated butchering of five defenceless human beings in cold blood, by an overwhelming force.

NUMBER OF ARMED DESPERADOES, whose very acts loudly proclaim that some imaginary grievance in all that is necessary for the solution of the problem, in comparison the worst acts of their lives would be looked upon leniently. It is safe by all that property and life itself are now at the mercy of lawless mobs, and that nothing should be left undone to bring under the penalties of outraged justice.

THE BLOODY HANDED MISCREANTS.

The detectives armed with warrants have gone into Biddulph for the purpose of arresting about a score of men charged of being implicated in the murder. Strong evidence is said to have been obtained from scarcee not yet made known.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—About two o'clock this a.m., Robert Donnelly, brother of Jas. and Thomas Donnelly, who was lately murdered, arrived in London. No arrests have been made since last night, though it is stated that about ten more warrants are to be issued for the arrest of other members of the Vigilance Committee. Immense crowds are coming in from all directions to attend the funeral of the murdered Donnellys. At 11.30

THE FUNERAL PROCESSION

left the house of Michael Connors, where the body of John Donnelly had been brought previous to the post mortem examination at the Coroner's inquest, and is proceeding to the Catholic Cemetery, where Father Connolly, resident priest, has promised to meet the remains and celebrate high mass and

BURY THEM WITH THE FULL RIGHTS OF THE CHURCH.

It was reported on the street, yesterday, that Father Connolly had refused to allow their remains to be buried in the Roman Catholic cemetery, but that rumor appears to be unfounded. The sacred rite, known to be members of the Vigilance Committee, are said to be in town to-day.

5 O'CLOCK.—The remains of the Donnellys were interred in the R. C. cemetery, without any opposition, or manifestation of any unusual character. Father Connolly officiated and preached the funeral sermon.

A VERY AFFECTING SERMON

in which he stated that when he heard Biddulph he did not know that the Donnelly boys, but heard they were very hard men and were anxious to make their home. (Laughter.) He did not see why he should be sorry to say he believed it in extenuating circumstances that do away with the crime. He would be believed them good. He said he believed them to be to fight at bare, knock a man down, smite horses, burn down buildings, and even kill a man, but a tragedy like the one that had occurred in their midst he did not think any old man had anything to do with and that everybody in honour any thing he had ever met with.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The nine persons charged with the murder of the Donnelly family were before the police magistrate this morning, but the case was adjourned, as had they were represented, the absence of Mr. Elliott, who is engaged in the Donnelly case. No evidence was offered and the prisoners were remanded for one week. The Donnelly funeral yesterday was the largest ever seen in London. Fully 10,000 people were present, and the procession was over a mile in length. The remains were interred in the R. C. cemetery, Father Connolly officiating. The Donnelly family were highly respected in this community, and the terrible tragedy which has overtaken them with such a fearful suddenness has created a profound sensation throughout the entire country. Many of the people are now afraid to go to bed at night, and the whole community is in a state of excitement.

to fight at bare, knock a man down, smite horses, burn down buildings, and even kill a man, but a tragedy like the one that had occurred in their midst he did not think any old man had anything to do with and that everybody in honour any thing he had ever met with.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The nine persons charged with the murder of the Donnelly family were before the police magistrate this morning, but the case was adjourned, as had they were represented, the absence of Mr. Elliott, who is engaged in the Donnelly case. No evidence was offered and the prisoners were remanded for one week. The Donnelly funeral yesterday was the largest ever seen in London. Fully 10,000 people were present, and the procession was over a mile in length. The remains were interred in the R. C. cemetery, Father Connolly officiating. The Donnelly family were highly respected in this community, and the terrible tragedy which has overtaken them with such a fearful suddenness has created a profound sensation throughout the entire country. Many of the people are now afraid to go to bed at night, and the whole community is in a state of excitement.

Reviews.

In our synopsis of the council proceedings we stated that J. J. Perry and J. Preddy had applied for a liquor shop license. It should have been R. J. Perry, and we make the correction accordingly.

Dr. Hilborn's Lectures.

Let none forget the magnificent lecture to be delivered in the Bricco House Opera Hall on Saturday night, February 28th. Words cannot convey the slightest idea of the orators of the "old man eloquent." His capabilities is world wide, and all who enjoy a high order of entertainment will regret having missed the opportunity of hearing one of the most eloquent of living men. W. J. Knox, Esq., will occupy the chair. Admission, 25c.

Silver Wedding.

The silver anniversary of the wedding of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. D. Bell fell on Saturday last, and in the evening about sixty of the rev. gentleman's friends called at his residence, South Napanee, to celebrate the occasion. The object of the evening was the presentation of complimentary addresses, a handsome silver watch, and several pieces of silver plate. Supper and the usual social enjoyments followed, and the evening was pleasantly spent.

Canadian Tweeds at $2, $2.25, $2.50, $2.75, $3 per yard. Bobbin & Ford.

The Night Watchman.

By request on our part we have had the pleasure of looking over the record book of the nocturnal gambling angel of the town, Mr. James Rathbone. It shows that he looks sharply to his duties. He records yesterday's the state of the weather, the drunks on the street at night the sleighbells, and they are many, who leave their doors open or unlocked. The "soldiering" of the night is also recorded. At present we can't make lengthy extracts. The last entry shows what a jewel Mr. R. is. After the City Hall fire last night, he went to bed but not it broke out again about two o'clock, when Mr Emerson carried water and got it out. Next day the papers had risen and the blazing subject was Spring towels and rubber hose. He again put the fire out, and no doubt averted another blaze. Some owners learned Mr. R's record, and don't now the town could do without him.

Spencer has reduced prices to suit the hard times.

Napanee Athletic Studio.

A number of young men of Napanee, as we are informed last week, have organized the Napanee Athletic Studio. Their object is to secure the services of Prof. D. C. Ross, champion heavy weight athlete of America, and J. B. Bowen, champion sportsman of the province. The rooms over Bowen & Lounsle's, formerly occupied by the Oddfellows, have been secured and fitted up as an athletic studio and gymnasium. The young gentlemen who are sanguine intended to promote muscular development, may be assured a grateful return without developing muscles of steel, and a constitution of iron. The rooms will be open every afternoon and evening, where any interested in the matter can call and see the fixtures. The room is under the charge of Prof. Ross, whose name is a sufficient guarantee that the institution will be conducted in the most orderly manner. It is proposed to have a series of entertainments, consisting of sparring matches, wrestling matches, &c., in connection with the studio, and the Napanee Athletic Club will be organized. Further notice of the time will be given in the papers. We wish the young men success in their undertaking, and hope they will receive the support they deserve.

An Old Printer's Reverie.

The following interesting old chaser when Napanee lost its low school interests when John J. Mapes was allowed to leave for Peru. The Uxbridge Wild Indeed, of which Mr. H. is principal, says his absence from the village will be a great loss to it. A fond husband, he was encouraged, an undergraduate of Trinity College, etc. A native French lady has also been engaged to teach the French language. The school has been closed for a week to allow Mr. H. time to put in personal attendance to the last three years.

Now Dry Goods Store.

Messrs. Ogden Elliott (for several years with the late firm of S. Hooper & Sons) and John S. Scott, have purchased the stock of the late firm, and intend carrying on the business in a first class style of dry goods. The whole of the extensive stock was purchased at 50 cents on the dollar of the valuation, so our correspondent. It is the intention of the new firm to cut down the prices of good to those figures, and from now till spring the stock will be cut down and sold without reserve. The business will be conducted on in all its departments as before, and the public may depend on getting immediate bargains for two months. Mr. Elliott, the senior member of the firm, is well qualified to conduct the business, and as head salesman Hooper & Sons have made many friends who will no doubt remember him, now that he is carrying on business on his own account.

The Fifteenth Anniversary.

On Tuesday evening last Mr. J. J. Perry was presiding along Dundas street, just was of Mr. H. R. Spencer's residence, when it was startled by the sound of two pistol shots in close proximity. He paid little attention at the time, but in the morning his wife discovered two holes in the tail of his coat, both or would have been made by pistol bullets. He remembered then at the time he heard the shots he was sauntering along with his hands in his pants pockets, which would prevent his coat from flying open, making a very handy target. Somebody must have been very anxious to put Perry out of existence, as the shots were almost face to face. Detectives are generally said to be on the track of the would-be assassin.

HILL POINT.

From an Occasional Correspondent.

Dear Beaver,—

Trade and other relations are about optimistic in this neighborhood. Prospects, here are brighter. Old Farmers Sweet is very well reconciled to moderate job right to his particular share of the year. And is rusticating around in the old fashioned way of his ancestors; have had a merry time for about two weeks.

Our local merchants have lost two more of their number. One has gone west, and the other to court and prove and take unto himself a helpmate.

MOLLIE.

OSSERA.

From a correspondent.

—The Wilmot House, after considerable delay here about two months ago repairs under favorable circumstances, has collapsed, and undaunted by return to the proper place of residence, Waterloo, having disposed of all his lease property to negotiable liabilities, and at the same time securing control of the hostel fairways, which is to be fitted up and furnished by him with a large, commodious supply of irredeemable brownstones and the drift of things, and proposed a gentleman who walks with a limp and looks at objects through an eyeglass, to take charge of goods and chattels, and were about to move, when it was all behold, our hermit Barney had to go down in his pocket, from which he brought out a roll of bills, and in order to make sure last night, the merchant had to change a note of hand. I don't think he will try that scheme on our merchant the next time he comes in that direction. The above paragraph was crowded out last week.

BELLEFIELDS.

From Another Correspondent.

—Since the cold wintry weather set in business of all kinds appears to be rather dull in this village. Everyone seems to be out out over. Whether it is caused by the scarcity of Jack Frost, or the beneficial results of the N. P., it is hard to determine.

A grand concert came to be given place on Ontario Lake on Wednesday, 18th instant. From the large amount of funds raised by the sale of tickets, the concert will be a success. Both the directors of the Bellefields Band and the Bellefields Choir, each feels confident that it will be a very attractive night for those interested.

The Band will on the 18th place in the C. of E. church hall Tuesday, under the able management of Mr. Byron Dudgeon, who is a thorough musician. The public generally are looking forward reluctantly from "H.M.S. Pinafore," which we will remember is the production of the leading organist in this village, and which was rendered by the choir and Sunday school scholars at the Christmas festivities. Mrs. Wallace's song, with chorus of "Go to sleep, my baby, my darling," was rendered in a very beautiful manner by the whole choir. The duet sustained by Mrs. Wallace and Mr. Harry Dorr received a hearty encore. The choir being exceedingly good, and the leader, Mr. Wallace, being a thorough musician, and the chorus are due to them who so justly contributed to the success of the evening.

The very blonde of Mr. Wm. Ansley is very much pleased to be in his element, and the cause of the pleasure is a full child, born on Thursday last.
